The New York Post has published an article on the Million Dollar Destiny project; read all about it here.

Â

Mandy Stadtmiller did an excellent job reporting on the project; we can't thank her enough.Â Also, we'd like to note that her (very accurate) point about Remi's constant, incessant, obnoxious use of people's names when he's talking to them is actually consistent in use-of-name frequency with most other people:Â He just spews so many sentences out to discuss even simple ideas that his total use-of-name occurrence is obnoxiously high.
